

Six Freshmen Merit Awards

Six members of the new Freshman Class were awarded half-scholarships, valued at $400.00 each, as a result of the competitive examination held on April 28.

The six were: Theodore L. Heying, Loyola High School; Kenneth R. Harman, Baltimore Polytechnic Institute; Joseph M. Weigman, Calvert Hall College; James L. Ward, Mt. St. Joseph's College; Robert W. Hayes, Baltimore Polytechnic Institute; and James P. Lester, Mt. St. Joseph's College.

First May Class

The advent of this Freshman Class marks the first time that a new class has entered in May. This was done in order that those students who were graduated from accelerated courses in high school may obtain some college credits before entering the armed forces. They will finish a half a year of college by the end of July.

Altogether, forty students from four Baltimore high schools have enrolled in regular courses. These schools are: Calvert Hall College; Baltimore Polytechnic Institute; Loyola High School; and Mt. St. Joseph's College.

Names Of Plebes

Paper Completes Eighteenth Volume

As the last issue of volume eighteen of THE GREYHOUND comes off the press, the Staff concludes its work for this year.

Among the past year's issues have been two Service Issues which contained the names of all the Loyola men in the Armed Forces and the pictures of Evergreen alumni who have given their lives.

The first issue of volume nineteen will appear in October, 1945.

Triennial Plan Starts In Fall

Beginning next September Loyola College will revert to a permanent three year course, the Rev. Joseph A. d'Invilliers, S.J., Dean of the College, disclosed recently.

Previously Loyola had been on a two year accelerated course, which wartime exigencies demanded. However, the approaching period of peace warranted slowing up the course, and thus a permanent three year course was decided most advantageous. The returning veterans will be enabled to finish their education sooner and derive more benefits under the G.I. Bill of Rights, according to the new plan.

All the undergraduate students will be affected by this new system which will lengthen the six week quarters of the two year course to eight weeks each. The Senior class of September will thus be graduated in May 1946, instead of in February of that year.

ASN Selects Four Juniors

At a meeting of the Alpha Sigma Nu, the National Jesuit Honor Fraternity, on May 3, the group voted on the election of four new members to be received into the ASN at the initiation ceremonies which will take place in the middle of June.

The four members selected were: Joseph B. Broushas, E. Paul Coffay, Robert E. Hiltz, and William C. Rogers, Jr. All are members of the present Junior Class.

Three Requirements

The nominations are based on three requirements which a student must fulfill to be selected to the National Jesuit Honor Fraternity. These nominations are made on the basis of scholastic ability, school loyalty, and service to the College.

In selecting new members to the ASN, the Dean of the college presents a list of men who can qualify scholastically, and from this list the present members of the fraternity choose those who are most representative in loyalty and service.

After election the candidates must be approved by the Dean and by the President of the College.

Alumni Chapter Planned

The present members of the fraternity are planning to inaugurate an Alumni Chapter of the ASN. According to the Constitution of the Fraternity, such a body may be formed.

The Chapter will be composed of Alumni members of the Fraternity and such graduates who would have been eligible for it had it been established in the school at the time of their attendance.

Loyola opened its chapter in March, 1942. The rules governing the formation of the Alumni Chapter specify that no student who had attended the college more than five years previous to the time of the opening of the College chapter could be eligible for membership.

This means that any student who attended Loyola from 1936 to 1942 may become a candidate provided he fulfills the aforementioned requirements.

Class Modifies Original Bold Yearbook Design

Due to lack of finances and the small Staff, the Senior Class has been forced to abandon its original plans to put out a full-sized Yearbook, and have decided to edit a wartime Classbook.

The Class found that the expenses entailed were too great for such a small group, and that the number of ads procured were insufficient for a Yearbook.

With a Classbook, the contents will include the senior pictures, the pictures and accounts of the members of the Armed Forces who entered this class of July 1945 as sophomores, and the class pictures.

However, the section on Activities, and the sports write-ups and pictures will have to be eliminated.

At present the Staff is working on the copy, and the Classbook will appear about July 15.

Miss Dolores de Gueckert

give impetus to the wishes of the class, and they felt that such popularity easily warranted their changing the original date of May 26 to a week later, June 2, so that Hamilton would be available.

Unusual Favors

Although, as is the custom, the favors must not be revealed until the night of the dance, they were secured far in advance and the Prom Committee was able to choose from a large selection. Extra expenses were incurred in order to purchase the favors the class selected.

Another embellishment was felt to

Professor Will Celebrate Golden Jubilee As Jesuit

The Rev. John G. Hacker, S. J., Professor of Latin, German, and Music at Loyola College, will celebrate his Golden Jubilee as a member of the Society of Jesus on August 31, 1945.

In his fifty years in the Order, Father Hacker has gained wide fame as a composer of Church music and as an outstanding musician. His facility at Latin composition is remarkable, and he is equally at home with Greek, German, and, of course, Music.

Rev. John G. Hacker, S. J.

Fr. Hacker was born in Buffalo, New York, August 21, 1877. In his boyhood he received training in violin, piano, and voice. He recalled that he had a fine voice as a boy soprano, and that he could sing high C with ease. He took part in many civic functions, displaying his talents to appreciative audiences.

Educated At Canisius

He went to Canisius High School, and then to Canisius College for two years. Here his endeavors were turned toward building up the Orchestra and Choir. Music was cultivated there to a much higher degree than now, and there were four full time Music professors, much to Fr. Hacker's delight.

Mathematics was the only subject which consistently kept him from leading his class, but he won many prizes and awards in other fields.

When eighteen years old, Fr. Hacker entered the Novitiate of the Jesuit Order at Prairie Du Chien, Wisconsin, on August 31, 1895. After four years of Novitiate and Juniate, he began his course of three years of philosophy, continuing with his musical work. Later he taught English for four years in what is now Campion College.

To Europe For Theology

He spent one year in Europe at Valkenburg in Holland near the city of Aix-la-Chapelle in Germany.

Fr. Hacker considered this opportunity to study his Theology in Europe a great favor, and he re-

Graduation Set For July Class

Graduation Exercises for the class of July, 1945, will take place on Sunday, July 29, at Loyola College. The ceremonies will be held on the athletic field near the Gymnasium at seven o'clock in the evening.

There will be a large platform on which the graduates, speakers, special guests, and faculty members will be seated, while the parents and friends of the graduates, alumni and remaining guests will occupy chairs on the field.

At this ceremony, twenty-six Degrees will be awarded to members of the graduating class, including two members of the Congregation of St. Francis Xavier.

No Honorary Degree

Although there will be no Honorary Degree given at this graduation, the customary prizes and awards will be made to those who merited them.

Medals to be given are: The Grindall Gold Medal for the Senior Student who attains the highest yearly average in Psychology; the Whelan Gold Medal to the Senior who secures the highest yearly average in Ethics; and the Murphy Gold Medal to the student with the highest average in Senior Religion.

Student Council pins will be presented to the Senior members of the Student Council who have been on the Council for two years, or who have done conspicuous work for one year.

Senior Week

The Senior Week activities include the Baccalaureate Mass and the Communion Breakfast. As at the former Communion Breakfast, all the graduates will be officially received into the Alumni Association.

The following are candidates for degrees: Lawrence G. Bookstie, Jr.; Charles E. Brannan; John F. Cashen; George M. Chilcoat; George D. Edwards; W. Clifton Gussar; Daniel N. Feecey; Edwin A. Fleishman;

Students Will Vote Leaders

Laurence P. Molloy, President of the Student Council of Loyola, disclosed that the 1945-46 elections for President of the Student Council and President of the Athletic Association will be conducted late in June.

Nominators Must Procure Signers

Before the actual time of nomination and election, each candidate for the two respective offices must procure the names of twenty-five students who will vouch for his ability as a possible officer.

One week before the election, the Student Council will give formal approval to the nominees, and they then become eligible for election.

Choice Of Student Body

The entire Student Body then votes to choose the men who will hold office for the coming school year in these two highest student offices.

After the roles have been tabulated and the winning candidates determined, they will be announced and introduced in their new capacities to the Student Body in an assembly.

The Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., President of Loyola, will then administer the oath of office to the newly elected President of the Student Council.

Juniors Prepare To Welcome Hamilton's Orchestra At Prom

by Robert E. Hiltz

In exactly fifteen days, on Saturday, June 2, the biggest social event on the calendar of Loyola College—the Junior Promenade—will take place in the gymnasium at Evergreen.

Baltimore's popular musicians, Carl Hamilton and his Orchestra, are scheduled to provide the musical renditions. The dance is strictly formal and will begin promptly at 9 p. m.

As in years gone by, Loyola is looking forward with eagerness to this culmination of all its social gatherings.

Innovations Promised

Realizing the importance of this annual affair, the Junior Prom Committee has conceived several innovations that promise to make this year's Prom the most brilliant in the memory of present students at the college.

In the choice of an orchestra, the Junior class was able to persuade Carl Hamilton to return again in appreciation of his scintillating performance at last year's Junior Prom.

As was announced in the previous issue of THE GREYHOUND, the task was not easy, for when the Prom officials contacted Mr. Hamilton three months before the date of the dance, they found that he had already been booked for the whole month of May.

However, this fact only served to

Lalley Captures Seaboard Finals In New York

Thomas L. Lalley, a Sophomore at Loyola College, won the Eastern Seaboard Zone Finals of the Mournful Oratorical Contest held recently in New York City. His victory marks the first time that a Loyola student has won the Eastern Zone Finals.

In the contest which was held in the Columbia Workshop of the A.R. Tom competed against a twenty-seven year old ex-marine from Boston and an eighteen year old New York student. For this victory Tom gained a $50.00 war bond and a chance to compete in the National Finals, also conducted in New York City.

Runner-up In Nationals

However in the National finals Tom was runner-up, being defeated by Stanley A. Parmisano, a student at St. Mary's College, San Francisco. The contestants in the National Finals represented St. Mary's College, San Francisco; Loyola College, Baltimore, and Milwaukee State Teachers College, Wisconsin. Tom nabbed a $100.00 war bond to his total for runner-up.

Won $500.00 War Bond

Previously speaking against the best orators in the state of Maryland, Tom won the State finals. This contest was held in the Baltimore City Council Chambers in the City Hall on April 13.

His victory marked the third consecutive time that a Loyola student had been chosen as the best orator among the Colleges in Maryland. For being the best speaker in the State, Tom was awarded a $500 war bond.

While in New York City, Lalley, as the guest of the Hearst Newspapers, attended the musicals "Up In Central Park" and "On The Town." He also visited such famous night spots as the Cafe Rouge, Cafe Zanzibar, the Stork Club, and dined at the Penthouse Club.

Audience Applauds Actors In Amazing 'Career Angel'

Pictured above are: (standing) Tom Gorman as Career Angel; Paul Coffay as Brother Seraphim, and (seated) Bob Longley as Brother Gregory. The Angel seeks to prove his presence to Brother Gregory in Act I, Scene I.

The annual school play of the Masque and Roper Dramatic Society, "Career Angel," was acclaimed a success by students and friends who attended the performances on April 20 and 21 in the auditorium of Loyola High School at Calvert and Monument streets.

The cast attributed their success to plenty of hard work and a receptive audience. The cast selections by the Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J., Moderator of the Dramatic Society and director of the play, were very suitable to the talent he had available.

The roles of Thomas Gorman as the Guarrillan Angel; Robert Longley as Brother Gregory; Paul Coffay as Brother Seraphim and Arnold Hayes as Willie Garvey, as well as the boys of the orphanage, were exceptionally well portrayed.

The audience proclaimed the midnight scene in which Arnold Hayes as Willie Garvey appeared dressed in a night shirt as the most hilarious of all.

The scenery, which was carefully constructed by the Stage Crew, under the direction of Chairman Howard Stott, was well prepared and artistically displayed.

Robert Longley, President of the Society, in behalf of the cast, presented Fr. Sullivan with a golf club as a token of appreciation for his untiring work in making the play a success.

turned from Europe with regret because of a division in the American Provinces. The Jesuit House at Valkenburg contained the most eminent professors in Europe; and the locale was excellent for concentrated study.

Turned Europe:

Before he embarked for America, he took a thirty day trip through western Europe. Recalling all the events with surprising clarity, laughing as he recalled them, and describing the sights he saw with such words as "gorgeous, magnificent, wonderful," Fr. Hucker relived his journey.

He visited Lourdes, and lived in Bernadette's house, eating and sleeping there, for five days. After viewing a French National Pilgrimage of 25,000 people, he traveled through Spain.

Back in the United States, he finished his Theology at Woodstock and was ordained there. He offered

WHEREAS: The identity of The Watch Dog of the Loyola College publication has hitherto been anonymous. We, in consideration of the revelation of said characters, herein contained, feel that we may now banish the uncouth and obnoxious phrases beneath which we have so long writhed in intellectual anguish in an attempt to disguise the intellectual personalities which, we feared, would be easily detected in the event that our true literary prowesses were propounded . . . Whew!!! . . . Therefore;—good gosh, tempus is still fugiting and we're still messing around with this stuff . . . Ya know, youse is all good guys but ya shouldn't oughta do what ya does, and this is gonna make yas mad . . .

SITTING ON A KEG (OF DYNAMITE): We see some of the fellows like Ed (Sure we'll get a union—suit?) Rehak who, we hear, has a nice map of St. Louis with all the points of interest neatly marked in red . . . Shows all the parks and "the long ways home" . . . and when Marge and John (I don't even remember what she looks like) Blume get together . . . Well— . . . just ask Bill (No, I've got my frat pin) Connor . . . saw it all from the window . . . double, too.

PERTURBED PEASANTS: We hear that Lou (I ain't got a chance in Religion) Franz can't understand how Tom (the Hustling Huckster) Gaudreau attached himself to Serena so quickly . . . the 'plunging back' type, no doubt . . . and we'd also like to know why word has gone around the feminine circles that an extra outfit is a "must" on a date with George (Speedy) Chilcoat . . . Tear it down, Georgie.

NOCTURNAL NEUROTICS: Lately we've seen Johnny (Long John) Mudd getting in from the G.C.H.S. Prom just in time for the Angelus (a.m.) . . . and, speaking of late, WHAT has happened to Tom (It's true) Royer . . . Come on, Tom, . . . make those classes . . . and finally, in the wee, small hours, we've seen Murray (I like Eastern) Hall and Margie . . . "Love that man" . . . (If Lou doesn't split that two bucks with us we won't tell that her last name is "Vogel").

ALL AROUND THE TOWN: We'll try to squeeze in such sights as Ray (I wasn't that wild) Bevans at the Gamma Sig banquet . . . Jack (I'm off women) Arthur at a St. Mary's social . . . Really breaking into the big-time, laddies . . . Lawrence (Anti-social) Bockstie at the school play . . . Approved of our little venture too,— . . . Thanks.

TRENDS OF THE TIME: We don't know what such things are leading to, but we would like to take note of some of the remarks made recently on such occasions as:—when we saw that Frank (I'm reforming) Cushen was "typical of the happy couples at the G.C.H. Prom" . . . The remark:—"Imagine Cashen being typical of anything." When Ed (Let's call her up) Barrett heard that Katie was going to New York for a week-end . . . "But she's going with her folks; is that good or bad?" . . . and when Bill (I'll spot you twenty points) Cahill ate a roast buffalo dinner . . . "I feel like a nickel" . . . Oh well,— P. S.: We sorta envy the record of Biminy (It's good in the afternoon, too) Jackson . . . ninety-seven days of bliss . . . and when Bill (Ground crew) Rogers called up Peggy after four long, dismal, lonely weeks . . . Was she peeved, Willie? . . . and we think that it is very unsportsmanlike of Paul (*I won't let Rehak go along*) Coffay to complain because entrancing Eileen's picture was in the same paper with capricious Cushen's.

INTO THE KENNEL OF FAME: We now have two of the most glorious, intelligent and resourceful of the long line of saturated snoopers, raving rovers, and harassed hounds . . . Say, by the way, no one cares who writes this stuff anyway so, say fellows, let's let bygones be bygones and forget the whole thing . . . Oh well, faint heart ne'er won . . . Come to think of it we (yes, you heard us—"WE") don't want to win anything so the . . . We can't say that either . . . Well, starting all over again; two new statues will now be added to the Kennel of Fame . . . In front of one burst (we persist in being grammatically correct—edjookation, SEE) you'll see the green and gray collar of the A.A. prexy, Ireland's gift to L.C., the tenth ward's diplomat . . . Charlie Meagher. And the other,—the Watch Dog who's turning sea-wolf, that Magnificent Fraud, the terror of Toity-toid Street . . . John Ahlers. O. K., take it easy,—we'll be glad to retract anything we've said—for a nominal fee. Seriously though, don't hit us,—we're fragile. Lots of luck to ye successor . . . Arf, arf.

Navy Lieutenant Feeley Tells Of Hectic Pacific Experiences

By Edward Barrett

Five invasions in the Pacific! That is the record of Carroll Feeley, '43, USNR, who stepped into THE GREYHOUND office last week to tell us of some of his experiences.

"I left San Diego the first week of 1944 headed for the Marshall Islands' invasion," began Lieutenant Feeley. "Before this I had been in LCT training at Solomons Islands, Maryland, for three months. When we left San Diego my LCT was on an LST."

Invasion Of Marshalls

"We stopped by Pearl Harbor for a last look at civilization and hit the Marshall Islands on January 31, exactly one year from the day I was graduated from Loyola."

This invasion was easy, for the preliminary bombardment had so shocked the Japs that they were too dazed to fight. The island was secured in eight hours. Lt. Feeley was skipper of an LCT that carried cargo from the transports to the beachhead where they dumped it.

This sort of work went on for twelve days, day and night. On the twelfth day the shore was bombed, and the entire beachhead and all the supplies piled up by the LCT men were wiped out.

Final Bombing

"My LCT was hit," continued Lt. Feeley, "and the ammunition on board threatened to go up any second. All the ten men in our crew drove overboard, and after a half hour of swimming, I was picked up. However, I lost all my clothes as the ship burned."

Carroll then joined a Boat Pool, since his own ship was gone, and here he had the same duty of unloading ships. In April he was recalled from the Boat Pool and sent back to Pearl Harbor, expecting to go home. Instead he was transferred to an attack transport.

Ten hours after he had gone aboard ship he was headed for Saipan.

Saipan Bloody

"The Saipan invasion was the most rugged I took part in. The Marines suffered 12,000 casualties, and we Navy men were under attack for three or four nights in a row. Five or six Jap planes would come over and all our ships would have to get under way and disperse to hide for the night."

"In this invasion I was a boat officer. My duty was to lead the marine assault waves into the beach, where we let them off. We were under heavy mortar fire the first few hours and thereafter were subject to sporadic mortar bursts."

Lt. Feeley said that when such bursts of machine gun or mortar fire opened up, the Navy would have to back off the beach while a destroyer came in and blasted the guns

Army Describes New Incendiary

Three months before Pearl Harbor, the Army Air Forces asked Chemical Warfare Service to devise an incendiary bomb better than Germany's best. M-69 was the bomb finally developed.

Nineteen inches in length, weighing six and one half pounds, the bomb might easily be mistaken for a piece of rain-spout from the corner of a house. It is so simple that it is manufactured in plants which once made fireworks, bed springs, and wall paper. Yet the M-69 is one of the most destructive fire bombs ever used.

Bound In Clusters

Today, at great B-29 bases, big five hundred pound "clusters" of these bombs are loaded into U. S. planes bound for Japan's industrial centers. Heavy enough for precise aiming by the world's best bombardiers and bomb sights, each big "cluster bomb" holds up to sixty of the M-69 incendiaries.

Down near the target, each big bomb opens to free its load of M-69's. Each M-69 carries enough of a special jellied gasoline to make a sticky, flaming "pancake" one-fourth inch thick and three feet across. These "pancakes" eject fiery globs which stick to, and burn fiercely on, any surface they may hit.

Mechanism Coordinated

The M-69's streaming tail slows its fall to 225 to 250 feet per second; fast enough to pierce a factory roof, yet slow enough to keep the incendiary bomb from destroying its own mechanism on impact.

Once inside a factory, a three to five second time fuse allows the M-69 to fall on its side before it literally "shoots" its searing, ringing charge of flaming jellied fuel up to 100 feet. As a U. S. general has said . . . "All the Japs can look forward to now is the destruction of their war industries."

Circulation Chief Marries Nurse

Thomas C. Royer, a Senior at Loyola, was married to Miss Denise Adeline Federer on March 12 at Annapolis, Maryland. The ceremony took place in the Rectory of the Calvary Methodist Church. The Rev. Luther Neff performed the ceremony.

Miss Federer is a native of West Virginia. She took two and a half years of pre-medical training at the University of West Virginia, and then was graduated from the Johns Hopkins School of Nursing on February 19, 1945.

Tom and Denise are now residing at 412 North Broadway Street in Baltimore. Tom will get his Bachelor of Science degree this July at Loyola, and intends to become a physician.

Homage Paid Virgin Mary

A public May Day Demonstration to honor Mary the Mother of God, by the members of the Sodality Union of Baltimore, was held at Loyola College on Tuesday afternoon, May 15, at 4:30 in the afternoon.

A large number of students from Mt. St. Agnes Junior College, Notre Dame of Maryland College and Loyola College, the three schools that comprise the Sodality Union, gathered to offer this public demonstration to the Blessed Virgin.

May Procession

The demonstration began with a procession which started from the Science Building, as the students sang the traditional May hymns. The procession ended before the Statue of Our Lady of Evergreen.

Here the Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J., Moderator of the Sodality Union, delivered an appropriate discourse on the occasion.

Miss Eileen Zeiget, of Mt. St. Agnes, the President of the Sodality Union, then placed the crown of flowers on the head of the Virgin.

Her entourage was composed of three girls from each of the girls' colleges. Representing Mt. St. Agnes were Miss Theresa Ward, Prefect of the Sodality at that school; Miss Mary Clare Thomas, and Miss Jean McGrath. Miss Mary Wintz, Miss Gloria Morenz, and Miss Virginia Elly represented Notre Dame.

Benediction Offered

Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, offered on a specially constructed altar on the Faculty House steps, concluded the ceremony.

Greyhound Banquet Slated For Emerson

By William C. Rogers, Jr.

"No assignments. No copy. No galleys. No page proofs. Such will be the program at the next meeting of THE GREYHOUND Staff in the Hotel Emerson," ordered the Rev. Paul J. Gibbons, S. J., Faculty Advisor of the publication.

The occasion will be the annual GREYHOUND Banquet which is held every year after the final issue has made its appearance.

The Banquet is scheduled for Saturday evening, June 30, at 7 p. m. in the Hotel Emerson.

New Editor To Be Named

Highlight of the affair, which is exclusive for members of the Staff, will be the announcement of next year's Editor-in-Chief and the presentation of GREYHOUND pins to those Seniors on the Staff who have done outstanding work on the paper.

At the same time, the undergraduate members of the Staff will receive special gifts as rewards for their services.

Emmart To Speak

After the Banquet and the presentation of awards and pins, the diners will listen to an address by Weston B. Emmart, '44, USA, a former cartoonist of THE GREYHOUND. Emmart was wounded in action in Germany, and is now convalescing in this country. The Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., President of Loyola, will deliver a short address.

By way of entertainment, Father Gibbons has procured the services of a professional Baltimore magician who will add to the festivities.

William C. Rogers, Jr., Business Manager of THE GREYHOUND, is in charge of preparations for the affair. Robert E. Chartrand, President of The Greyhound Press Club, will be toastmaster.

Rev. Paul J. Gibbons, S. J.

Junior Prom

be necessary if this Prom was to be the success the class hoped to make it, and thus formal invitations will be sent to every couple attending.

Attractive Program

The Prom Program promises to be attractive and dignified. It will be almost double the size of past programs, and has been arranged in new fashion.

There will be a special section for the names of the members of the Junior class and their lady friends, plus a list of the patrons of the Prom. There will also be an extra page for autographs.

George Bardelman, president of the Junior class, and Miss Dolores de Guckert, the Prom Queen, will lead the march of Juniors in the Promenade. Miss de Guckert will receive the Prom Queen's bouquet from Laurence Moffoy, president of the Student Council, as the orchestra plays the school song.

Servicemen Welcome

Since the present Junior class is far below pre-war numbers, invitations have been sent to all the members of the class of 1946 who have left for the Armed Forces inviting them, if at all possible, to walk in the promenade with their fellow classmates.

The price of a ticket is $4.20 a couple. Since the curfew has been lifted, the dance will run from 9 to 1.

The members of the Prom Committee are: George Bardelman, Chairman; Paul Coffay, Decoration Committee; Robert Hiltz, Program Committee; and Charles Schmidt, Favor Committee.

Sodality Plans Special Mass And Breakfast

The Blue Star Chapter of Our Lady's Sodality will hold its annual Mass and Communion Breakfast on Sunday, May 27, at 9 o'clock in the Students' Chapel at Evergreen.

The Mass will be offered by the Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J., Moderator of the Sodality. After the Mass Fr. Higgins will formally enroll all those who have never joined the Sodality.

Each new member will take the Sodality Pledge and will receive his certificate of membership, signed by Fr. Higgins, and Robert Hiltz, the Prefect of the Sodality.

Invest New Members

At this time all the men who have not been formally received into Loyola College's Sodality will be duly invested. Many of the present Freshman class which entered Loyola May 7, as well as some others who entered school after last year's reception, will also be welcomed into the Sodality.

A caterer has been engaged to serve the Communion Breakfast in the Cafeteria after the Mass. The guest of honor at the Breakfast will be Dr. F. D. Hubbard, Professor of Physics at Johns Hopkins University and an alumnus of Loyola.

Awarding Of Pins

During the breakfast, seven gold Sodality Pins will be awarded to the seven Sodality members who have been most faithful in fulfilling their obligations. Fr. Higgins decided to make the awards according to a point-merit system, whereby the Sodality members earned a certain number of points for attendance at the various Sodality activities and weekly meetings.

A varying number of points were assigned to each of the different activities, and the seven men who have the highest number of points will be presented with pins.

Not only those students who will be formally enrolled in the Sodality, but also all other members in good standing are expected to attend.

Expect Large Turnout

This Mass and Communion Breakfast highlights all the endeavors of the Sodality, and consequently the Sodality members are asked to turn out in full strength.

As has been the custom in previous years the Sodality members are requested to invite their fathers. Likewise, many of the more recent Alumni are most cordially invited to attend. The fee for the Breakfast has been placed at $1.00.

Inventory

As the school year draws to a close, and the last issue of THE GREYHOUND comes off the press, the time comes to take inventory of the year's accomplishments. Reluctantly we view the ending, but joyfully we review the events of the year 1944-45 at Loyola College.

Taking the events in order, one thing stands above all others. In the short space of one year, Loyola has run the course of two more educational years. Keeping pace with her two year accelerated course, Loyola has bidden farewell to one graduating class, while guiding others of her students to prepare for the eventful moment in July when another group will be graduated under the two year course.

At the same time, she has seen students who a year ago were freshmen step quickly and efficiently over the gap to Senior year, beginning next September. In order that many high school graduates might have the opportunity to acquire some portion of their College education before induction into the Armed Forces, Loyola has welcomed several new Freshmen groups, the latest of which began their studies here on May 7.

All these students she has educated according to the tested Jesuit standards. Philosophy and Theology, Science (with its labs) and Mathematics, Languages, History and English—all the same courses are being given and have been given. Many of her sons she has seen depart for the defense of their country and these very courses and this pleasant environment at Loyola. But though the student body fluctuates below one hundred, the standards have not been lowered, and, as a matter of fact, activity has been even more progressive.

In the field of activity, great and far reaching strides have been taken. While some of the societies are dormant, the major activities, like old man river, just keep rollin' along, some of them at flood tide. The Sodality has increased its percentage of membership and extended its work in co-operation with other Catholic Colleges in Maryland. Going out beyond the immediate confines of Loyola, the IRC, spurred on by the ceaseless incentive of its Moderator, Doctor Doehler, has seen its efforts and plans crystallize in the newly established Maryland Regional IRC Conference. This work brought to the IRC the acclaim of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Three years of limited opportunity and the increasing wartime demands did not prevent the Masque and Rapier Dramatic Society from its masterful production, "Career Angel." Hard work was required on the part of all concerned, but the play went on, and Dramatics received a much needed reinvigoration.

The other smaller activities, as well as the Athletic events were carried on at a slower rate, but with just as much determination.

So the panorama of progress shows every sign of pre-saging the glorious "boom" that every one of us wants to see at Loyola College when peace again reigns over all.

Welcome Back, Soldier

"Hi, Joe! Gosh, I'm glad to see you back. Where have you been? It's been a long time. How long are you home?"

These are the customary words of greeting; these the usual questions. They are asked every day by students of their fellow classmates or of past students who have had to leave Loyola to get their degrees in War.

Why is it that these boys who have gone inevitably return the first or second day of their furloughs to revisit Loyola? Why do many of them come out here knowing they will not know any more than a handful, if any, of the present students. There is only one answer. School Spirit. School Spirit and the deep, intense Loyalty of these Loyol alumni.

Yes, every day, familiar faces of friends in uniform are seen around the campus, in the Cafeteria, in the gym or out on the athletic field. The boys who once went to Loyola are coming back. They are trying once again to snatch a bit of the enjoyment they used to know here.

We wonder often just how they feel. We know that they are constantly thinking of Loyola; of the pleasant times they had here; and of the glorious future they look forward to when they take up their studies again.

But how should we, the present students, feel? It is no secret that most of the boys coming back have more school spirit than many of the students now in the College. Is not this a strong motive for us to do our best at all times? Undoubtedly. We must fashion into a reality all the dreams and spirit of these boys who come back. We must welcome them with the closest fraternity—welcome them to the kind of Loyola they hope for.

It is grand to see our old pals return. It is nice to ask them what they have been doing and how long they are home.

But suppose they should ask us, individually, what have you been doing?

The Reader's Right

May 3, 1945

Dear Editor:

I noticed in the April 29 issue of THE GREYHOUND that you would like to hear from the parents or friends of boys in the service, concerning their present location, rank, and any other pertinent information.

My son, John J. Boone, is with the 319th Infantry Division, somewhere in Germany. He is a Private First Class. He was wounded on March 29. In the last letter I received, dated April 20, he stated that he had left the hospital but was not back with his unit.

If this information is of any use to Mr. Howard Stroll for the Year Book, I wish you would pass it along to him.

Sincerely,

Mrs. John W. Boone

Editor: THE GREYHOUND

Dear Sir:

My son, William T. Christopher, has written me several letters in which he mentions how good it is to receive the college paper, THE GREYHOUND. There are many things of interest in this paper that hold the College near and dear to him. He also relates the interest manifested in this paper by his shipmates who read it so thoroughly that when it is returned to him it is like a rag.

William is in the South Pacific on the U. S. S. L. S. T. 242, striving for his rating as radio man. At present, he is radio operator in the counting tower of this ship.

I thought it would be a good idea to write and let you know how valuable this paper is to my son and the many students of Loyola.

Yours cordially,

Richard T. Christopher

THE FIFTH COLUMN

WAVING THE RED FLAG

Dean: Communism has invaded the campus.

Fr. Maloney: How so?

Dean: Class hatred!

* * *

Speaking of pictures, our favorite sports writer, Frank (Handsome) Cashen, was found plastered all over the front page of the Highway (publication of Girl's Catholic High School). We never saw the old newshawk so dressed up! Even his shirt was clean.

NIGHT SCHOOL STORIES

A certain policewoman signed up for the Night School course in Effective Writing, and she is being carefully avoided by her professor. We of the staff are willing to wager that she is one young lady who will certainly pass English (Cum Laude—no doubt). How about that Father??

* * *

Another gentleman who has practically passed the course is the owner of that Greek restaurant in South Baltimore. Instead of doing his homework, he just hands the good Padre a ticket for a free meal. Some neat racket—huh fellows?

FACULTY HOUSE MURMURINGS

1. Is it true that Father Higgins serenades the students of his Ethics class and his brother professors with his French horn? Heard he also played in the Woodstock orchestra. Ahhh—latent talent!

2. Mr. E. P. Betowski, S. J., has at last had his initials correctly translated. We all thought that the "bookstore fiend's" two correct handles were "Edward Paul"—but some of his closer friends now call him "Enormous Profit." (voice no objections please).

3. Father Hauber reports that his SCALES are accurate to 1/300000 of an ounce. He says they are so delicate that one could pluck a hair from the head of some fair maid,—cut it in half and accurately weigh it.

Calling All Students

Student Body of Loyola College:

With the advent of the new Freshman Class, the enrollment has almost doubled. The thing to do now is enlist. We should take this opportunity to recruit as many of the new men as possible into our growing activities.

A year ago one would hardly believe that today there would be many of the activities alive. They have not only been kept alive but in many cases there have been some definite progressive steps. The Dramatic Society, for instance, recently staged a full-sized production. This is the first big play that Society has put on for four years.

THE GREYHOUND has continued publication under severe handicaps, but has managed to serve faithfully the Alumni and the College.

No student can receive the full benefit from his college education unless he participates in the extracurricular activities. As a matter of fact, the regulations of the college demand that every student register for at least one cultural and one athletic activity. He must prove that he actively engages in these activities before he receives his diploma.

The friendships established in extracurricular work often last a lifetime, and experiences in such activities are a constant topic of conversation when Alumni meet.

In conclusion, I would like to extend my congratulations to the many activities that have weathered the storm, and also for the fine support each organization has given to the Student Council. Many thanks to the Editor of THE GREYHOUND who has made the appearance of this letter possible.

Sincerely,

Laurence "Mike" Molloy,
President of the Student Council

Prayers Offered For Conference

The entire Student Body of the College, irrespective of religious denominations, gathered in the Students' Chapel on Friday, April 20, to offer their prayers for the success of the United Nations Conference at San Francisco.

The Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J., Professor of Ethics and Student Counselor, delivered a short sermon on the necessity of spiritual acts of petition to God so that He might bestow wisdom, charity and justice on those who draft the charter.

Returned To Pearl Harbor

On the way back to Pearl Harbor for a few months of welcome rest, his ship carried 400 Jap prisoners. Describing our giant Pacific base at "The Pearl," Carroll said that now you would never know it had been bombed on December 7. The base has been enlarged to many times its normal strength.

He pointed out further, "I had exactly one date, lasting four hours in all of 1944. She was a nurse at Pearl Harbor.

"Incidentally, in December of 1944, I met the sister of Charlie McCollum. She was the first girl I met, whom I knew, in fifteen months. She and Pat McClusker were Ensigns on a hospital ship."

In September, Carroll left Pearl Harbor for the invasion of the Carolines, which did not materialize. He was detoured instead to Manus, the great South Pacific naval base, to stand by for the Leyte invasion. Three weeks of waiting and he was off again for the Philippines.

Alumni Physicians Conduct Initial Quarterly Meeting

The recent meeting of the Physicians' Group of the Alumni of Loyola College is the outcome of an idea conceived by Frank J. Ayd, Jr., '42, who will be graduated from the University of Maryland Medical School on June 22 of this year, and will then be commissioned a Lieutenant (j. g.) in the Navy.

Sometime ago, Frank conceived the idea of an organization among the Alumni of the 140 doctors and medical students who are graduates of Loyola.

Purpose Of Organization

This body would thus enable all the physicians to meet regularly, renew acquaintances, and exchange views on their work. The younger doctors and those aspiring to the medical profession would, in their turn, have the benefit of the experience of the older men.

Plans were accordingly laid, and the result was the successful meeting of a few weeks ago. Approximately seventy-eight percent of the available doctors in Baltimore who are Alumni of the College attended, and enjoyed a most instructive evening.

Resolutions Drawn Up

At the initial meeting, the members made the following resolutions: The meetings will be held four times a year; a committee of three is to be selected as directors of this group; a different chairman will be elected for each meeting from among the group. Arthur T. Hall, '42, was chosen secretary. A group within the Alumni for social engagements will also be formed.

The Rev. Joseph J. Ayd, S. J., Professor of Social Sciences at Loyola, and former professor of Medical Ethics at the Georgetown School of Medicine, spoke on a problem in Medical Ethics. Patrick C. Phelan, '35, a resident surgeon at Mercy Hospital, Baltimore, expounded the aims and objectives of the new Loyola Alumni Physicians' Group.

The Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J., Professor of Ethics here, added words of encouragement and appreciation.

Dr. Charles E. Bagley, Jr., '11, F. A. C. S., Professor of Neurosurgery at the University of Maryland, was Chairman of the meeting.

From all sides, expressions of approval were received concerning the timeliness of the idea and the remarkable prospects ahead.

This plan offers an opportune stepping-board for similar groups to form among the Alumni.

The following doctors and students of medicine attended the meeting: Frank J. Ayd, '42; Charles E. Bagley, '11; John Buchness, Sr., ex. '15; Nathan Canter, '42; T. Nelson Carey, ex. '35; Henry Chase, '43; J. Albert Chatard, '98; Thomas Connor, '44; Raymond Cunningham, '35; William C. Duffy, '38; William Dunnigan, '31; Frank Farino, '43; V. deP. Fitzpatrick, Jr., '42; William R. Geraghty, ex. '23; Gordon Gray, '43; Arthur T. Hall, '42; Raymond Helfrich, '27; John Hogan, ex. '45; James Kavanaugh, '28; Francis Kirby, '02; John Krager, '18; Frank Machata, '43; Robert May, '42; Fred McCrumb, ex. '45; Donald Mohler, ex. '45; John Norton, '39; Emil Novak, '12; John O'Connor, '18; James O'Hare, '43; Frank Olenasek, '33; Raymond Peters, '18; Patrick C. Phelan, '35; Emmett Queen, '39; Joseph E. Reahl, '42; F. Fred Ruzicka, Sr., '12; F. Fred Ruzicka, Jr., ex. '39; John A. Scheurich, '16; Daniel Shaughan, '27; Thaddeus Siwinski, '44; E. Milton Smith, ex. '44; Anthony Siedem, '42; George B. Sybert, '19; F. Paul Tinker, '41; Reginald Toury, '39; Robert Tunney, '39; John F. Ullsperger, '41; John Wick, '39.

study of Hymnology. The book is unique since it achieves the double purpose that Fr. Hacker intended. First of all, it aids higher literary value to the hymns through closer co-ordination between the melody and the text, and it achieves a more perfect agreement between the musical rhythm and the verse rhythm. The rich organ accompaniment also enhances its worth.

After three years at Boston College, Fr. came to Loyola College in 1926 and has remained here ever since. Although he has taught Latin, Greek, German and Music at Loyola, his present work is confined to the teaching of German.

In years gone by, when the student body was larger, Fr. Hacker had charge of the Glee Club. His greatest achievement was the public performance here of Tennyson's Ode to Vergil which Fr. Hacker had set to music.

Outside of the College, his activities are manifold. He has been President of the Baltimore Classical Club for two years; vice-president of the Goethe Society of America for many years; and a member of the Germania Club of Baltimore. As a member of the Society for the History of Germans in Maryland, he recently contributed one chapter on the History of the Catholics in Maryland for a two-volume work now in the course of publication.

Council Elects Senior Entries In Who's Who

At a special meeting of the Student Council, six members of the Senior Class were selected to appear in the 1945-46 edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

The six Seniors were George Edwards, Cuyler Jackson, William Meyer, Jr., Laurence Molloy, George Spiegel, and Howard Strott, Jr.

A total of seven seniors were nominated by the Dean's Office according to their scholastic record and their extra-curricular activity at the school; then they were passed on by the Student Council.

Who's Who has two purposes. First, it serves as an honor which is void of all politics, fees and dues, to students who are outstanding members of the College. Secondly, it establishes a reference volume of authoritative information on the great body of American College students who are leaders in their colleges.

Edwards is a member of ASN and co-editor of the Evergreen; Jackson is president of the Math Club; Meyer is vice-president of the ASN and Editor in Chief of The Greyhound; Molloy, also a member of ASN and the President of the Student Council; Spiegel works on the Evergreen and The Greyhound staffs; and Strott is President of the Alpha Sigma Nu and the Chairman of the IRC.

An earlier election to Who's Who from Juniors and Seniors was held, but later it was decided that, since only a restricted number of names could be published, another election of the present Juniors and Sophomores would take place next Fall.

Hiltz Discourses On Galileo's Life

"Galileo, His Life and Contribution to Mathematics," was the topic of a paper given by Robert Hiltz at a meeting of the Mathematics Club held on Tuesday, May 15.

In treating of the contributions of the Italian wizard, the paper summarized the extent to which Galileo went in formulating his theories.

It was shown how his labors and research, though insufficient at that time to convince the minds of the men of the sixteenth century, nevertheless became the foundation of so much of our present knowledge of mathematics, physics and astronomy.

Parents' Day Celebration:

Mrs. Connor Reveals Part Seven Sons Take In War

"I am praying daily for peace so that my boys may return home again," said Mrs. John S. Connor, mother of nine sons, seven of whom are members of the Armed Forces and former students of Loyola College.

Mrs. Connor, who raised the service flag at the recent Parents' Day celebration on May 13, went on to tell about her nine sons and her daughter.

In Many Invasions

Lieut. John S. Connor, Jr., U. S. N. R., has been in the Pacific Theatre for twenty-six months and has seen action in the Tarawa, Saipan, and Iwo Jima invasions. He is now in California, and expects to return to action soon.

Lieut. (j.g.) Charles Connor, U. S. N. R., has been stationed in the Pacific with the Seabees for the past sixteen months. He took part in the invasions of Luzon and Leyte in the Philippine Islands.

Stationed in the Atlantic and Mediterranean area for sixteen months was Louis Connor, S. 1/c, U. S. C. G. Louis, on leave from his Coast Guard Cutter, visited home last Christmas. While in the Mediterranean, he participated in the assault on Sicily and Southern France.

On March 6, Second Lieut. Robert Connor, U. S. M. C., was graduated from Pensacola Naval Air Station. He is a Marine fighter pilot, and expects to go to Jacksonville, Florida, for operational training.

One In Medical School

Thomas Connor, who is an Apprentice Seaman in the Naval Reserve, is now in Medical School.

Paul and Walter are both Seamen First Class in the Naval Reserve. Paul is a radioman and tail gunner on a T. B. F. at Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

Eugene Connor, sixteen years old and a Junior at Mt. St. Joseph's College, looks forward to joining the Navy.

Joseph Connor is teaching at Georgetown Preparatory School, while Ann is at present in her freshman year at Mt. St. Agnes High School.

Charles, Joe, and Tom are all graduates of Loyola. John and Paul both attended the College for two years. Lon and Bob completed one and three years, respectively, while Walter's studies were terminated by his enlistment in the Naval Reserve at the end of three weeks.

Orator Eulogizes Loyola Mothers

The Rev. L. Charles McHugh, Student Counselor at Georgetown University and Professor of Physics there, delivered the Parents' Day Sermon at the ceremonies held on Sunday, May 13.

Fr. McHugh's topic was "The Catholic Family at the Altar of Mars."

He urged Loyola Mothers to preserve their high ideals of dignity, decency and courage, and to make their homes representative American homes. He said that all education began in the home, and that mothers are the only ones who can raise the standards of family life. While the philosophers expound the duties of the home, it is the mothers who must put them into actual practice.

IRC Schedules Peace Studies

Doctor Edward A. Doehler, Moderator of Loyola's International Relations Club, stated that although the monthly meetings of the Maryland Regional International Relations Conference have been concluded, the IRC at Loyola will continue to hold its weekly meetings every Tuesday.

Conference Discussed

For the remainder of the year, the chief topic will concern the San Francisco Conference now in progress. The members will discuss the possibilities, progress and prospects of the Conference, comparing it with the Dumbarton Oaks Proposals, which the Club has already studied intensively.

The last regional meeting of the Maryland Regional Conference was held at Western Maryland College, Sunday, April 22. The topic discussed was "The Inter-American Problem and the Act of Chapultepec."

This assemblage concluded a series of four regional meetings which were held this year.

Regional Activities

Speaking about these regional meetings which were inaugurated among the colleges in Maryland in January, Dr. Doehler pointed out that this regional activity was a brilliant success. All indications show that they will be resumed next September at Mt. St. Agnes Junior College when the other schools again convene.

the Japs took over."

Two months later the wounded were moved to Bilbil Prison in the center of Manila. Here Jimmy stayed in bed for six months while his leg healed. American doctors and corpsmen tended the wounded, and treated his leg.

After six months he was able to get up on crutches. Once he was on his feet, he had to do his own work. This work consisted in doing his own laundry, washing his own dishes, and doing other odds and ends to get money to buy extra food.

Starvation Diet

"The Nips only issued rice, and now and then a few vegetables and dried fish, but we always had rice every meal. You can get used to the rice—If you can get enough of it," commented Jim.

As a result of this diet he suffered from malnutrition in many forms, such as scurvy and pellagra. A number of the men died from their wounds, from beri-beri, malaria and dysentery.

He was able after a year to discard the crutches and hobble around in a built-up shoe that he made himself. However since the Nips had him marked as "disabled," he had to live right in the prison and could not do any outside work.

"Finally after twenty-two months," continued Corporal McGee, "I was sent to Cabanatuan to work the farm there, replacing able-bodied men who were being transferred to Japan. Here they were very strict, with one Jap to guard every five men. The Jap had a rifle and bayonet over us all the time, but I was not treated too harshly since I was considered sick. My work consisted in digging vegetables, harvesting corn and, in general, working the farm. We had to do all this by hand.

American Phones Appear

"During this time, on September 21, 1944, we had our best day, for that day we saw our first American planes. They were Navy carrier planes coming over to bomb and strafe Jap installations. All we had to do then was worry about staying alive till the American forces rescued us.

"In November of 1944, four hundred of us were sent to Old Fort McKinley, where we remained till January 5, 1945. They then shipped the whole camp to Bilbil. The planes kept coming over in increased numbers, until finally the glorious day of rescue arrived on February 4.

"Army transport planes whisked us back to Fiesco and the next destination was Home . . ."

ALUMNI DOINGS

By Edward A. Doehler, '30

News From Service Alumni

Ken Bauer, '30: Pfc. Kenneth F. Bauer has joined the ranks of those cited for heroism in the European area of operations. According to recent reports from the front, Ken, while serving with the 407th Infantry Regiment of the Ozark Division, was awarded the Bronze Star for heroic achievement in Germany. The platoon to which he was attached was heavily engaged and unable to advance until Ken volunteered to make a hazardous two-hundred yard trip through machine-gun territory to bring into play the support of automatic weapons that caused the enemy defense to crumble, and made possible the accomplishment of the platoon's mission.

Howard J. Whelan, Jr., '43: Pvt. Howard Whelan is being kept busy these days holding down his part of the job being done by the 274th Infantry in Europe. Howard is convinced that "this infantry leads a rather active life." He does find time to get to Mass every day in a rather battered but beautiful village Kirche. We will have to wait until some later day to know just where that church is, but we have Howard's word that "this Church is the closest to 'Home' that I've come to in the last 3500 miles."

Edward Kaltenbach, '42: S/Sgt. P. Edward Kaltenbach has served for many months at the various fronts in the Mediterranean area, and certainly deserves his recent good fortune of visiting Rome, having an audience with the Pope, and also having a Jesuit-directed tour of all the points in the Holy City that would be of special interest to a Jesuit alumnus. Among the places mentioned in his letter were the tombs of St. Ignatius, St. Aloysius Gonzaga and St. Robert Bellarmine; the Jesuit Churches of the Gesu, St. Ignatius and St. Andrew; and the rooms adjoining the Gesu which were St. Ignatius' headquarters when he was in Rome.

George W. McManus, '43: Lt. (j.g.) George W. McManus (or "George Heavy," if that will serve better for purposes of identification) writes to tell that he is at present Disbursing Officer of the Samoan and Wallis Islands,—but is hoping for a new assignment as supply officer of a Cruiser.

John B. Farrell, '41: 1st Lt. John B. Farrell was with us not so many weeks ago, attending his first Loyola dance since his own graduation. It is hard to believe that he is now back in his old haunts, across the vast Pacific. This time it is the Philippines. John manages to get around! He also met a number of Jesuits who had much to relate about their experiences with the Japanese.

Franny Mueller, '43: Lt. (j.g.) Francis J. Mueller has been spending some weeks in sunny Florida, doing his share to see to it that some LCI's are properly overhauled. Quite a change from Franny's former jobs at Anzio and Normandy. Meanwhile he confesses that he has tried his hand at golf (while the golfballs hold out) and had the chance to see his brother, Ensign J. Gordon Mueller, ex. '45, as well as Ensign "Wish" Galvin, ex. '45, and Lt. "Jack" Russell, '41.

Bill Bavis, '44: Ensign William S. Bavis, writing from his D. E. somewhere in the Pacific, mentions that the Catholics aboard ship have organized a Rosary Recitation and Religious Discussion Club which meets every Friday on the fantail, under the direction of none other than—"Chaplain" Bavis!

Lt. Michael Cited

The Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., read the following citation at the Parents' Day Celebration on May 13 at Evergreen.

In the name of the President of the United States, the Commanding General, Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, takes pleasure in awarding the NAVY AND MARINE CORPS MEDAL to Second Lieutenant Richard Michael, '43, USMCR, for service as set forth in the following text.

"For heroism in rescuing wounded Marines on Peleliu Island, on September 19, 1944. Lieutenant Michael was serving as air liaison officer attached to an infantry battalion during an attack against enemy held coral ridges.

"When the assault companies were held up and were receiving heavy casualties from a well-concealed enemy mountain gun and when air support was not available, he voluntarily organized his men into stretcher bearer teams and led them forward to the front lines.

"Although the barren coral terrain offered no cover and was swept by deadly enemy fire, he repeatedly ran out to locate and rescue the wounded.

"Despite heavy casualties in his detail, his total disregard for danger and bold determination inspired his men to complete their courageous mission. His actions throughout were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

H. M. Smith
Lieutenant General, USMC

STARS-IN-STRIPES

Lt. Noah Walker, USNRAF, '41, is now serving with the United States Navy in the Pacific theater.

Among the leaders in the revival of lacrosse as one of Loyola's five major sports, he is one of three Walker brothers who were well-known at Loyola. His brothers, Cory and Henry were also fine lacrosse players. Noah further distinguished himself as Sports Editor of THE GREYHOUND.

Graduate Of City

He graduated from City College in 1937. While at City he was a member of the lacrosse team, and thus came to Loyola with several years of prep experience behind him. From the time of the first lacrosse game with University of Virginia in his freshman year, until his final game with the United States Naval Academy several years later, he held down a regular post on the Green and Gray team.

All American

Noah was singled out in 1940 by being selected on the second team of the All-American Lacrosse squad. He was the first Loyola College athlete to receive such an honor. He participated in the North-South All Star game in 1940.

He was chosen to play on the Southern All Star team in 1941 for the second time. Noah also was a very interested member in the intramural sports program while at

Lt. Noah Walker, USNRAF

Loyola, and in his senior year he was on the squad of the Interclass basketball championship team.

We cannot help but point to a statement which he made to the lacrosse team of 1942 while he was in the service. It should serve as an inspiration to all future teams at Loyola:

"When you're on that field your opponents are your enemies; so don't ease up until that ball game is over and you've won it. There is only one thing that matters on the field and that is victory. This may sound like a lot of sentimental bunk but it is the truth..."

With such spirit prevailing in the hearts of Loyola men in the service it is not hard to see why they make such excellent fighting men.

Running With The Hounds

By Frank Cashen

Well this is the last time we will sit down to the old typewriter and pound out a column for THE GREYHOUND. So if you detect tear stains on the parchment please disregard them. I just took an exam.

We note the Green and Gray has something new on the schedule this year in the Martin Bombers. Two interesting games were played with the aircraft workers and both produced some good baseball. Loyola traveled to the new streamlined Martin ball diamond for the initial game.

Sid Roche faced a collection of semi-pro and minor league stars as he toed the rubber for the Hounds. Loyola was noticeably nervous and made several costly errors in the opening innings which ultimately meant the ball game. The Bombers took a 7-3 decision but they won on seven unearned runs. Roche was at his best as he struck out ten in six innings.

After the game, Colonel Swann congratulated Coach Chuck Burke on the showing of the team and had a special word of praise for big Sid's chucking. Swann, who is manager of the Martin aggregation, entertained the team at dinner following the game.

When the Bombers journeyed to Evergreen, Roche limited them to three hits, two of them of the scratch variety. He struck out twelve in the seven inning contest. But again errors cost the hapless Hounds the ball game as Martin's chalked up a 4-1 victory.

Well, my faithful brethren, it looks like the end of the trail. It's been a great experience and more fun than you can imagine. As the departing Sports Editor of the paper, I would like to take this opportunity to thank the members of the staff for all their help. They are a grand bunch of boys, including my constant companion in crime and otherwise, Lou Franz; genial Bob Longley; and Overlea's gift to the girls, Charley Schmidt.

To these and to Bill Meyer, I express my thanks. And putting my 30 mark, I leave you with the familiar toast: "May each of you ever climb the hill of prosperity and never meet a brother coming down."

Jays Squeeze Hounds, 15-13, In Wild Game

In the words of Craig E. Taylor, sports writer for the Baltimore Sun, "you wouldn't have believed it if you hadn't seen it." Mr. Taylor's sage words referred to the weird struggle which took place between the Hopkins baseball team and the Loyola Hounds on May 1 at Evergreen. The Greyhounds came out on top in everything but the number of runs scored, and they dropped the decision, 15-13.

Franz Gets Six Hits

Lou Franz, veteran center fielder, had a perfect day at the plate for Loyola as he picked up six hits in six trips to the plate. Of these six, two were doubles, three were singles and the other one was a roul trippler. Loyola made three errors during the course of the game but Hopkins doubled that amount with six.

The two Loyola chuckers struck out ten of their opponents while the Jay pitcher set down six.

Three Hounds Pitch

Three Loyola pitchers paraded to the mound before the unusual ten inning game was finished. Dan Feeney started for the Hounds and lasted until the sixth inning, when he gave way to Ray Bevans. At this point, the game was tied up at six all. Bases were loaded and no hands out when Bevans took over and the lithe lefthander forced the next two batters to ground in the infield and each time the runner was cut off at home. But a wild pitch by Bevans gave the Jays two more rallies before the side could be retired.

Hopkins Bullies

Going into the first half of the ninth, the Green and Gray held what appeared to be, a comfortable two run lead. However, the Jays put together a two run rally on four walks and an error and the game was forced into overtime innings. As Bill Benjamin, the Hopkins pitcher, set the Hounds down in order and the game was tied up at 10-10. In their half of the tenth the Jays collected five runs on two hits.

The Hounds came biting back in their half of the tenth and it looked as if they would pull the game out of the fire. With one out Bevans singled; Charley Schmidt went out on a fly, but Franz came through with his sixth straight hit of the day, a single to right-center. Bevans stopped at second but scored a moment later on George Bardelman's bingle.

Hounds Retaliate

Earl Brannan lashed a double to score Franz and Bardelman, but he was tagged out at third when he tried to stretch the hit into a triple. Thus the Hounds' rally fell short by two runs and left the final score, 15-13, in favor of Hopkins.

Poly Captures Evergreen Invitational Track Meet

by Lou Franz

Baltimore Polytechnic won the Loyola College Invitation track and field meet for the third consecutive year. Poly scored eight firsts on the thirteen event card, as they piled up 54½ points.

The meet was sparked by record breaking performances as five new meet records were set. Over 250 thimelads, representing fifteen schools, participated in the championships.

Barnes Sensational

For the second straight year, Charley Barnes and Karl Rubach paced the Engineers as they tallied fifteen and twelve points respectively. Barnes took first place in the 100 yard dash, the 220 yard dash, and the running broad jump. Rubach notched firsts in the 120 yard high hurdles and the 220 yard low hurdles.

Kehoe, of Belair High School, repeated his last year's performance as he won the mile run. He stepped the distance in 4 min. 43½ sec. for a new meet record.

Rubach Sets Records

Rubach set meet records in both of the hurdle events, and Barnes took the broad jump with a record breaking performance. Mt. St. Joseph's relay team set the other record in the 880 yard run.

City College was second in team scoring with 34½ points followed by Mt. St. Joseph's 21; Patterson Park 18; Forest Park 15½; McDonough 10; Belair St. Towson 2; Franklin 1, and Catonsville 1.

Former Mentor Visits Campus

Emil G. Reitz, Specialist (A) 1st Class, USNR, former Athletic Director of Loyola College, visited Evergreen on May 3 and 4, while home on leave. Lefty is still stationed at Penn State where he recently acquired the rating of Specialist (A) 1st Class. He asserted very vigorously that he is still waiting for the day when he can return to Loyola.

Lefty hasn't seen a Loyola basketball or baseball team for the past year and a half. As far as the baseball team is concerned, Lefty hasn't seen the squad in action for two seasons, but hopes to do so before the present schedule is concluded. He promised that he is going to try and make the Block L Smoker on May 19, but concluded that the Navy's leaves are unpredictable and he can't make any promises.

McGee Relates Harrowing Saga Of Jap Internment

By Robert Reichel

"After thirty-three months in a Jap prison camp in the Philippines, relief finally came for us when the First Cavalry Division recaptured the center of the city of Manila," said Corporal James F. McGee, ex. '40, of the U. S. Army, in a recent interview.

American forces liberated eight hundred prisoners in Camp Bulbid on February 4, 1945. Jimmy was one of these eight hundred. "Although we always felt we would be eventually freed, yet when those hard-charging cavalry boys came through they looked like men from Mars. It certainly was good to know that we were back on the right side again."

Recounts Experiences

Corporal McGee enlisted in the Army in May of 1941, and departed for the Philippines one month later.

He was shipped immediately to Corregidor, and there received his basic training before he went on duty with Battery F of the 59th Coast Artillery.

"After the attack on Pearl Harbor and on Manila, we on the Rock of Corregidor were safe until December 28 when the Nips hit us with an all out air attack," continued Jim.

Furious Attacks

"These air attacks increased in fury as the days went on, and right after the fall of Manila and Bataan they were augmented with heavy shelling by Jap batteries from Bataan and the Cavite shores.

"With the shortage of manpower, food and supplies, we could only work to maintain what little defense we had, distributing carefully our spare ammunition, and offering some sort of shelter to the beleaguered refugees that came from the mainland. We didn't have to wait long! Twenty-eight days after Bataan fell, our turn came.

"Most of the fellows figured we would have to fight till the end, and thus we would get as many of them as we could till we were captured. We all were certain that if we were taken prisoners, the Nips would kill us, so we just fought on.

Japs Invade

"The night of May 5 they started coming on the Rock itself. We held our own for a time, getting many more of them than they us. I was wounded by shrapnel in the leg and foot, and was in the hospital when
